Integrating ChronosHub and Pure

Agenda

- More about Lancaster
- Need for Maximising Open Access and Research Management
- Solution and Progress so far - successes
- Future Developments

More about Lancaster

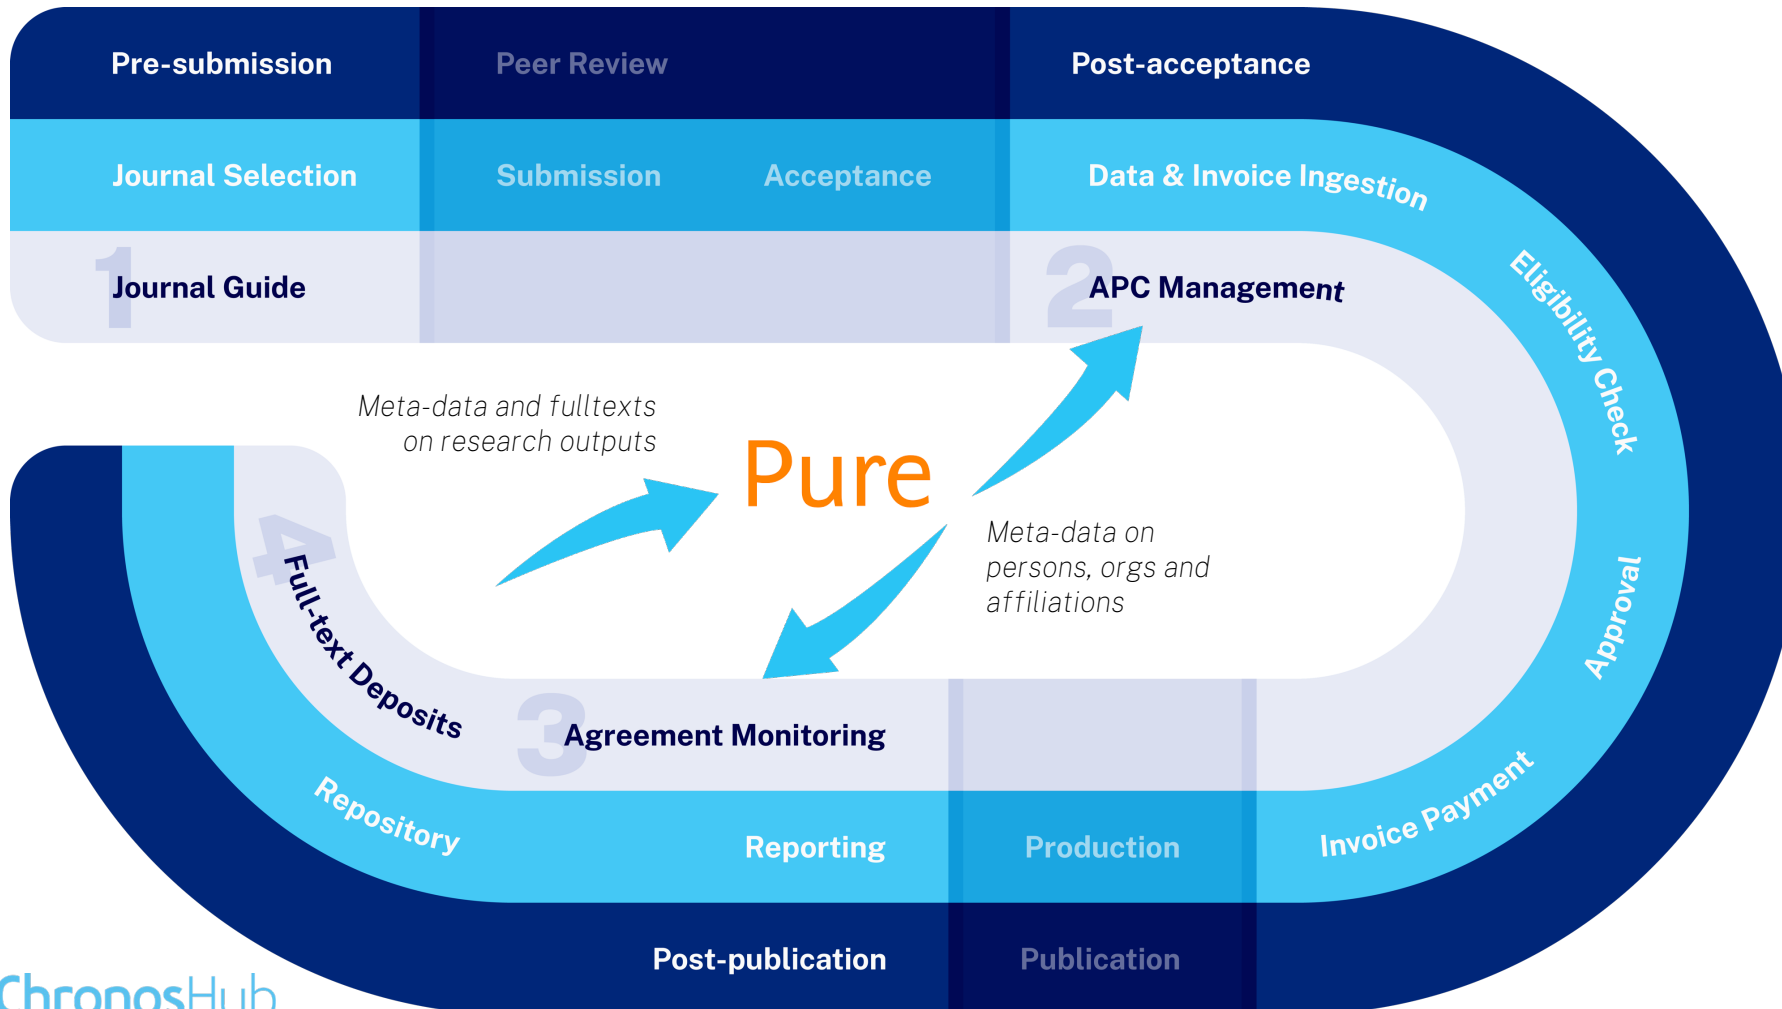

- Located in the scenic North West of England
- 16k+students, 3k+ staff
- About 3k research outputs per year
- Top 15 rated university in the UK
- Used Pure as CRIS since 2011
- Used ChronosHub since 2023
- Winner 'Outstanding Library Team' 2022 Times Higher Education Awards

Need for maximising open access and research management

- Differing open access requirements for researchers: which journals can they publish in? Are journals compliant with funder requirements? Are funds available?
- Labour intensive administration. Delays in invoice payments delays publication.
- What are Read and Publish agreements? And how do we evaluate them?
- Complex process for researchers uploading research into Pure.
- Manual data entry.
- Metadata missing – follow up often required with researchers.

Solution: automating the processing of research outputs and OA types along the publishing journey

1. Journal Guide

- 50,000+ journals
- OA agreement conditions
- Funder policy compliance
- Payment eligibility checks

2. APC Management

- Invoice AI-processing
- Approval dashboard
- Funding eligibility checks
- Payments

3. Agreement Monitoring

- Agreement administration
- Data integrations
- Data reuse
- Reporting

4. Full-text Deposits

- Collection of full-texts
- Manuscript AI extraction
- Meta data enrichment
- IR/RIMS/CRIS integration

Progress so far: 1. Journal Guide

Future Developments – Sync with Pure

- The integration between ChronosHub and Pure is to be finalised during Q4
- Data on persons, affiliations, grants and funders in Pure will be used in ChronosHub
- This enables a direct matching using the same PIDs in Pure and ChronosHub and a fully automated data transfer
- New research outputs (meta-data and fulltexts) will be added through the re-configured widget and transferred from ChronosHub to Pure once published to minimize back and forth
